

Instructions for printing the programme as a booklet

This is just one way to do this – there will be others!

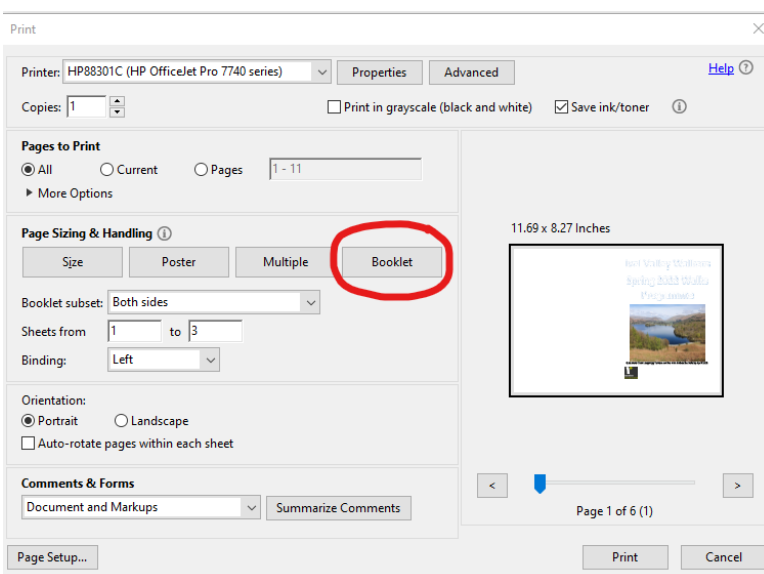

Once you've clicked on the link, if you see the programme displayed in your browser, go to the top right hand side of the screen and click the download button ringed in red below:

Once the download has finished, open it in Adobe Reader (freely available from Microsoft Store and other places) and choose print (top left of screen - ringed in red below):

Then click the Booklet button and make sure your settings match the screen below:

Click Print and you should get a printout that can be folded in half to form an A5 Booklet.
